This guide interrupts cell expansion wars to the point where you can better understand the game, whether you're a beginner or an expert. Every player is going to find out what it takes to level up. Use the toc below to quickly jump to the topic of your choice: Toc: Guide to Quick Review Beginners T4G ChallengePro tips, tricks, and cheats 1. Quick review: Music: Music is what you're trying to mute. It's not seamless, so you can skip it and restart the 30-second song. It would be great if they updated the song to make it more intense or calm. That said, the sound effects are great. When we play Cell Extended War, the music is always muted. Graphics: This is a simple game with fun, modern graphics, and visual effects. It is almost strangely satisfying, especially when taking over enemy cells. Overall: If you've played a game similar to this like Splash Wars, you'll see that Cell Expansion War (CEW) is a bit tough. CEW requires more strategic thinking instead of luck when compared to Splash Wars. Also, if you are competitive like us, you will work to get 3 stars on all levels. This is a game you are investing in, for killing time or leisure. Either way, CEW is a game with a number of different gameplay challenges in each level, so the gameplay won't get out of order or repeated. This game will test your mind and help give your brain more workouts that you reach a higher level. Beginner's Guide: CEW's goal is to take over enemy cells. Speed along with strategy and accuracy is key to completing any level. First, you need to worry about your strategy, but try to think of the word fast, smooth, smooth and fast while perfecting your craft. Worry about speed as you continue to gain at the level. There is always another way and you have to think about it and practice it. The attack intensity of cells is based on the size of the cell. The higher the number of cells, the stronger the cell, and nothing is too complex. As the number of cells increases, you get more than one tentapate instead of one. For example, when a cell reaches 15, the cell will have two attack tenta hand. To increase the number of cells more quickly, the cells must supply each other. Usually, cells are the farthest away from the enemy. When you see cells feeding each other, it rapidly increases their strength and makes you more deadly. Tenta controls sent out to attack another cell can be cut at the base of your cell, sending a complete number of tentas to the enemy cell. When you do this, you'll get far more punches than a single cell you're sending just by keeping your tenta hand connected. This is a great way to end more matchesEarly in the game, or later on, giving the enemy the upper hand. However, each time you do this, the number of attack cells decreases significantly. So, how, when and which enemy cell is wise in how to do this. T4G Challenge: Our challenge is to reach level 500 and get 3 stars in each level. It is up to you and your heart to get help and even complete this. Rely on yourself and what you are taught by our guide. If you trust what you can do and you don't quit.4.Pro tips, tricks and cheats, you can't let yourself down: always at least three cells seem to feed each other and create a feeding system. These 3 feeders reach 15 and unlock another tentacle that allows you to connect these feeder cells to the attack cell while still keeping them in feeder Cells. This game can be played offline if you want to stay away from ads that disconnect your device from the Internet, or because you put your device in airplane mode. Just remember that the game is free, so look at the ads and mobirix is the way to make money. This allows companies to keep the game free for us all to enjoy. Run the test at the beginning of the hard level using different methods planned to defeat the enemy. Enemies tend to attack the same cell every time, so they study their enemies to look for weakness. There are always weaknesses. Record the data and adjust it as you go. Ultimately, you'll be writing a book in your mind about what the enemy will do and what to do next. Defeat enemies in free cells or gray cells that no one ally owns yet. It is much easier to defend one cell compared to two. If the enemy is sending tenta hand to the free cell trying to take it over, taking it first may be a wise decision. When the tenta hand is sent to the free cell and cut at the base of the cell, the full power of the tenta hand is sent into the free cell, allowing it to take over faster. The more free cells you take, the more you add to your army. When an enemy is fighting another cell, it looks like it will attack one of your cells that is not attacked or is not busy doing anything else. Look for these opportunities throughout the game and be less aggressive than you need to be and put yourself in a bad situation. Enemy cells can attack free cells in the same way that you are basically stopping both cells from advancing. In this situation, you can attack the enemy using another one in your cell to attack the enemy free cell or attack any cell that is attacking at the same time it is discharging it. That.
